Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 5, 13, 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Silberman (US 2060830) in view of Watanabe et al. (US 5023394).

Silberman (figures 8-12) teaches slide fastener structure including clamped on legs 34 of the metal fastener elements 35, a tapes 27, 28 that are formed by being folded over a cord 32 and stitched by sewing 36. The difference is that the tape isn't plated. However, Watanabe et al. (figure 2) teaches plating the fibers of a woven tape with a material so that the tape acts as an electromagnetic shield and the teeth of the zipper are also metal. As electromagnetic shielding is important for many products, it would have been obvious to modify the fastener of Silberman so that the tape is plated and the teeth are metal in view of Watanabe et al. teaching that it is desirable to provide such structure. As to claim 13, the cord 32 is at the edge of the flap 29, which defines a support piece as shown in figure 11.

Claim 19 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Silberman (US 2060830) in view of Watanabe et al. (US 5023394) as applied to claim 5 above and further in view of Masataka (JP 2001-204515).

Further modification of the tape of Silberman so that it is coated by a fire resistant material would have been obvious in view of Masataka teaching that it is desirable to make the tape fire resistant and applicant was given Official Notice in the prior office action that a fire resistant coating is well known as the equivalent of making the fabric of fire resistant material.

This statement of common knowledge statement is taken to be admitted prior art because applicant failed to traverse the statement of official notice. The metallic shielding materials of Watanabe et al. would also inherently provide some fire resistance.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed December 26, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the new limitation directed to the location of the sewing thread as "provided at a position spaced apart from the legs" (claim 5, lines 7-8) as presenting patentable subject matter is unpersuasive because the new reference to Silberman teaches such a location of the sewing thread 36.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
